

frag.extract

18.07.2019

A dark blue diagonal gradient bar that starts from the bottom left and extends towards the top right, covering the lower half of the slide.

Chrome extension

- New “Add to fragment” button parsing code into extension
- “Add to fragment” opens Popup now
- For now first codeblock gets directly piped
- No hovering effect on input fields (caused bug)
- No concern about i3 users - focus on win and “normal” environments
- After reopening popup (with context in it) input fields are on default size

First try training model with all of the data (on home pc)

